

Blames Big Business For Bonus Opposition

Senator Reed Plays Republican Senators for Their Two-faced Stand

TREASURY IS CONTROLLED

Man Who Votes Against Tax Measure to Kill Bonus Termed as Coward

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—The issue of unconstitutional was raised against the proposed bonus measure during senate debate Monday. Senator Reed, Republican, raised the point that the measure is unconstitutional because it proposes to tax one class of citizens for benefit of another. The bonus as proposed by Senator Reed is an amendment to the tax revision bill providing that excess profits taxes shall be continued and the revenue thus derived used to pay the bonus. Senator Reed replied that the right to pay a pension or bonus has never been denied, that the constitutionality of an excess profits tax has never been questioned and that Congress has the right to say in the same bill how and where the money should be spent.

Gave Profiteers Money
New said he was not speaking of the merits of the bonus but declared that he believed that Reed's amendment would not stand the test of the courts. "The real argument against the amendment," declared Reed, "is that Republican senators do not want to vote on the soldiers' bonus. They say out of one corner of their mouth that they can't get money to pay the bonus while out of the other corner they say they will remit $450,000,000 to the war profiteers." "How high the type of courage on that side of the chamber snarl," exclaimed Reed. "If the soldiers had had that brand of courage at Chateau Thierry they would have not stopped running until they were drowned in the Atlantic ocean."

Run by Big Business
"The treasury of the United States is not affected by big business, it is run by big business," said Reed. "The secretary of the treasury is connected with so many big interests that when he writes a tax bill it is written by big business for the benefit of big business." "I have no hesitancy in saying that the man who votes to table my amendment votes against the bonus," said Reed. "He casts a coward's vote. He not only votes to kill the soldiers' bonus but he votes to take the excess profits off the corporations." "Universal bankruptcy will result unless the world limits armaments and permits a reduction of taxes," Senator Swanson of Virginia, declared Monday in the senate during the debate on the pending tax bill. "Tax reform and reduction of government expenditures are world problems demanding immediate and decisive action," declared Swanson. "The curse is worldwide and the relief to be most effective must be universal."

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Guns and orders to use them were given postal employees here and in other large cities Saturday on receipt of anonymous warnings that more holdups are to follow the one on lower Broadway last Monday. A mysterious letter received Postmaster Morgan warned that the "Big Four" would make its next raid in Philadelphia. The letter also claimed that the loot in the New York robbery amounted to $5,000,000 instead of $1,500,000 as claimed by postal officials.

Fun Must Be Kept Within Decent Limits

Doors of municipal court will swing open Tuesday morning for human spooks, ghosts, witches, goblins or gnomes caught by police officers Monday night while in the act of wilful and malicious destruction of property or endangering lives. This was the edict Monday from Chief of Police George T. Prim who has made all arrangements to protect the public from over-zealous celebrants of Halloween. "Innocent fun will not be interfered with," Chief Prim declared, "but where damage is done to property or persons, police officers will act. We have no objection to the youngsters having a good time but damaging what belongs to others is not in this category." The chief made it clear that the use of soap on windows is on the forbidden list of Halloween stunts and spreaders of soap will be hauled into court. This is because soap is difficult to remove and because cures have been known where costly windows were permanently marred in this way.

Censure Of Premier To Be Known In Vote

Outcome of Clash in House of Commons Over Government's Irish Dealings Is Awaited Eagerly by Entire Populace.

By Ed L. Keen
By United Press Leased Wire
London—Colonel John Grettton opened the attack on Premier Lloyd George's Irish policy, in commons Monday afternoon when he began debate on his resolution censuring the government for its conduct of peace negotiations with the Sinn Fein. Grettton excoriated the government's "surrender in negotiating with the representatives of gangs of assassins." He said the conference was doomed to failure from the start. The house of commons will render its verdict Monday night on Premier Lloyd George's conduct of the Irish peace negotiations. The vote on resolutions censuring the government for alleged weakness in its attitude toward the Sinn Fein was scheduled for 8 p. m.

Doubt Union Strength
Although there appeared to be every assurance that the revolting unionists could not muster more than 50 votes and would be overwhelmed by the Lloyd George forces, who would be assisted by liberals and laborites, the situation was regarded as highly important. Considerable significance was attached to the possibility that a great number of unionists while not joining the insurgents of their party in attacking the government, would abstain from voting on the resolution sponsored by their party unless the premier gave definite assurance that Ulster would not be sacrificed. Reports have been circulated widely that the Sinn Fein are willing to trade allegiance for the counties of Fermanagh and Tyrone. Should Lloyd George in his speech reassure the unionists that Ulster would not be partitioned, he would be confronted by a possibility of a rupture in the peace negotiations scheduled to be resumed tomorrow—since the Irish will not concede the sovereignty of the king without substantial concessions. Members of the Irish delegation declared Monday that the pessimism regarding the negotiations expressed by the British press was unwarranted and that real progress had been made. They were hopeful that in his speech Monday afternoon Lloyd George would clear up the Ulster problem.

Crisis In Business Is Passed, Bankers Aver

By United Press Leased Wire
New Orleans, La.—American business has passed the crisis; few disturbing factors are seen on the horizon and the nation is set for continued improvement in all lines. This was agreed by bankers from all over the country, here for the annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America. "There will be no boom, say the bankers. Progress will be slow, but it will be assured. An era of thrift is returning. People are saving money despite depressed conditions and are rapidly abandoning the speculative enterprises that held sway during the war. Without exception the bankers are optimistic over the outlook. "There is more smoke in Pittsburgh now than at any time in the last six months," declared John W. McGreor of that city. "I think I can safely say the worst

SEEK DEATH CLEW IN SECRET LOVE

By United Press Leased Wire
Portsmouth, Ohio—Police Monday continued investigating the alleged secret love between Miss Louise Doyle, 13, and John W. Newman, father of three children, in hope of finding a clew to the murder of the two church workers. Coroner J. D. Hendrickson favored the motive of robbery but was unable to explain why rings and other valuables had not been taken. Miss Doyle and Newman were buried here Sunday. The girl, auburn haired and pretty, had been Sunday school teacher and organist in a local church. Newman was head of one of the largest Bible classes here. Newman's wife, prostrated Monday, declared he had always been a model husband. She knew of no friendship with Miss Doyle. The girl's mother and brother said Newman's name never had been mentioned by Louise. She went out nearly every evening, they said, and generally resented inquiries as to her destination.

OFFER TO PAY DEBT IS SOVIET MOVE TO GAIN NEW POWER

Question of Russian Recognition May Come Squarely Before Arms Parley

By Lawrence Martin
Washington—Senatorial agitation for American recognition of the Russian soviet government threatened Monday to break out anew, as a result of the red government's reported offer to assume the czarist debts in return for recognition. Senator Francis of Maryland and others are preparing to urge that the United States give most careful and sympathetic attention to the Russian proposal when it is received. Russia owes the American treasury about $200,000,000 and any proposal which promises to make possible the collection of this apparently "bad debt" should not be dismissed lightly. France declared today. Russia, in the opinion of high officials and senators, "tuned her note to leading powers so as to bring the Russian program squarely before the Paris conference. It is to be a conference of reconciliation of which should stand as the size of armies and navies but a better spirit toward the preservation of peace, and a readjustment of financial burdens so that world trade may be revived and wheels of industry may hum once more."

For no matter which way one turns, the problems under which the world is struggling seem to have a definite relationship to each other. France refused to tolerate the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti unless the foreign office "exhausts every means to prevent it," according to an ultimatum made public Monday. The ultimatum was presented to Foreign Minister Della Torretta by a proletarian committee which demanded immediate information as to the fate of the two communists who are seeking to obtain a new trial following their sentence of death for murder in the United States.

Life of Milwaukee Judge Is Threatened
By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—Armed guards were posted around the district courtroom here Saturday morning as the result of Judge George E. Pace having received a mysterious note, threatening his life. Judge Pace dismissed the threat as "the work of some fanatic," but the police are taking no chances. The threat was written on a postcard and sent to the judge in his chambers at the city hall. "You'll be shot if you don't change your attitude on liquor violators," was the message written.

Parley Object Is New Peace Spirit

International Cooperation, not isolation, is Fundamental Idea in Harding's Policy of Equal Opportunity for All Nations.

By David Lawrence
Copyright 1921 by Post Pub. Co.
(In this the first of a series of six dispatches, David Lawrence, the famous Washington correspondent lifts the veil on the fundamentals which will be discussed at the coming conference on armament.)

Washington—To the average man or woman thinking about the winter's coal bill or household affairs, the big Conference in Washington next week may seem to convey an impression of things academic and far afield—something for the "high-brows" in Washington to worry over. But the conference is the biggest thing that has happened since the war. It touches every family not only in the United States but throughout the world. It has a rather official sound—title—Conference on Limitation of Armament and Reduction of Far East and Pacific Problems. But its real purpose, its real job isn't expressed by those words at all. Indeed, what does "Far Eastern problems" mean? Who except the experts follow the details of commercial intrigue in the Far East? What does "limitation of armament" mean? On hand you would say "stopping expenditure on a naval expert and he will tell you it means keeping practically the same size of navy that each nation has now without additional ships and the first thing you know you are in the midst of a technical discussion in which it is pointed out that absolute disarmament is unthinkable because a police force is needed for domestic safety and that "reduction of armament" mean two distinct things as will be explained hereafter.

There's also an inside story of how the conference came to be called. It throws a good deal of light on what's going to happen. This will be told in another dispatch. The Paris conference merely drew up a treaty to end the war. It couldn't possibly do everything. The whole social and economic fabric of countries both neutral and belligerent had been torn to pieces. What Paris failed to do toward reconstructing the world, the Washington conference will attempt. The viewpoint at Paris was to get peace established quickly. The passion of haste has disappeared. All the nations meet now in a calmer and more quiet atmosphere. The meeting was called to limit armament and talk over Far Eastern questions but the mission of the Washington conference is one of healing.

The recent note, coupled with the red's government previously announced change in its economic policy clearly signifies an admission by the Lenin-Trotsky government, officials here believe, that it must have the recognition of the leading powers and commercial intercourse with the merchants of the world. If the soviet scheme is to survive, therefore, it is believed every effort will be made to get the delegates to the arms conference to consider while here the question of admitting Russia once more to the circle of nations from which she dropped when the bolsheviks took control. The French government, which has been keenly interested in Russian developments because French investments and loans in Russia are larger than those of the other nations, may take the initiative here in bringing the Russian question to the fore, officials thought.

REASON FOR COUP

Curiosity led to investigation and it was found that half the flock carried a half pint flask of whisky under one or both wings, tied with strings, on the return journey. Two men had a light wooden frame, covered with a muskrat hide on an endless string. That muskrat "swam" the river many times a day. Everytime it came this way the frame contained a quart of whisky. Tourists around International Falls have heard of the yearling tame moose kept by a trapper at his cabin near International Falls. Few of them knew that the tame moose used to swim the river, occasionally dragging a case of whisky behind it. Boats with false bottoms defying detection, hip boots with false linings, hunting coats containing rubber compartments—and various other means of getting across a personal supply are frequent.

COMB WORLD TO FIND WHO Rich Mystery Man Was

FEAR "GOOD KILLERS" DID STABBING AND SHOOTING

Newark, N. J.—A resumption of the operations of the "Good Killers" the Italian murder band—was feared here Monday following two killings in the last 24 hours. Marino Sperleone, 39 and Giacomo Ponte, 50, are the dead men. Sperleone was stabbed in the abdomen and his body was found lying in the street. Ponte was shot as he stood in his store.

SHE FORGED MORE THAN 200 CHECKS

Chicago—Mrs. Mary Mattich, 31, alleged by police to have a record of passing over 200 checks for a total exceeding $25,000 was arrested here Monday. Police say that in a confession she told of passing bogus paper in many cities, including Minneapolis during the last few months. Known as "Mary, the pen woman," the police allege she and her husband Stephen have been forging checks in making purchases and then selling the loot.

Oppose Jap Monopoly

Then look at Japan. Millions and millions of people squeezed together on a few islands struggling for an outlet. They look toward China with their wealthy resources. Who shall stand in the way of their development? But the big powers—the United States, Great Britain, Italy, France and the rest—refuse to allow China to be despoiled. The overseas trade of each country can not be jeopardized by allowing Japan a monopoly in the Far East.

Rules for Behavior

The object of the coming conference therefore is to draw up rules and regulations for the behavior of all nations in the Far East—an effort to establish equality of commercial opportunity. Indeed, it goes deeper than that. Sources of friction must be removed.

St. Paul, Minn.—"Liquor running" across the Canadian border isn't an adequate term. It flies, swims, dives, floats, trickles and walks across the line. Webster recognizes any other tangible means of navigation or negotiation, they probably are used too. Sigurd V. Quain, Minnesota prohibition enforcement chief, leaves for Regina, Sask., Monday to confer with Canadian officials on means of cutting down the traffic. Minnesota and North Dakota are unwary for thousands of saloons of liquor going to all parts of the country. It is being brought into the United States by train, motorboat, automobile and airplane. These standard conveyances bring in the greatest quantity but the traffic is flourishing in a smaller way right under the noses of agents, under disguises that put fairy tales to shame.

Independents Doubtful if Important Initiated Measures Will Carry

By United Press Leased Wire
Fargo, N. D.—Independents were getting nervous Monday over the initiated measures submitted in Friday's recall election. "Practically complete returns" indicated that the measures might not pass. Nonpartisans prior to the election said defeat of the measures was more important than holding Governor Frazier and his lieutenants in office. With 171 precincts still missing at noon Monday the Nonpartisans had out the lead of R. A. Nestos for governor to 7,637 over Governor Frazier. The vote gave Nestos 107,604 and Frazier 99,907. This was a total of 207,511 and it was not believed possible the remaining precincts could total more than 10,000 or 12,000 votes.

Seventy Thousand Hear Opening Address of Emery at Kansas City

By United Press Leased Wire
Kansas City, Mo.—The American legion, in convention here Monday, renewed its battle for assistance for the financially disabled veterans. John G. Emery, national commander of the legion, told the opening session of the convention of efforts made by the organization in behalf of the physically disabled soldiers during the last year, and then declared: "Our great fight now is for another class of disabled veterans—the financially disabled." "Adverse industrial conditions have hit ex-service men harder than any other class," Emery said. He scored the senate for its action in turning down the readjusted compensation bill. "President Harding was misled by the anti-compensationists," Emery declared. "The senate in acting unfavorably on the bill bowed to the will of the chief executive and not to fact or reason." In sounding the legion attitude and declaring the fight for the bill would be carried on, Emery called upon the legionnaires to "act as fearlessly, toward congress as our brothers acted when they died in France. Relief of disabled veterans is the most commanding duty," resulting from the war, the vice president declared. "There are some things that can wait," he said. "Others perish in the waiting."

Harding Doing His Best

"There is nothing closer to the heart of President Harding," than making this relief absolutely complete. No man will go further to minister to the welfare of those who have sacrificed the service and their dependents," said the president. He will do all this can be done to prevent the need of your again sacrificing yourselves for your country's welfare." Reviewing the activities of the government for veteran welfare, Coolidge said that the veterans' bureau is now paying out more than $400,000,000 a year or "more than one-half the entire expense of the government before the war."

Attendance Is Large

Seventy thousand ex-service men were on hand for the opening program. Addresses by General Armando Diaz of Italy; Lieut. General Jacques of Belgium; Vice President Coolidge and welcoming of Admiral Beatty were features of Monday's program. Legion officials, despite the fact that election of officers and selection of the next convention will not come until the last day of the convention, continued to slipper Monday. Baltimore entered the contest along with San Francisco, New Orleans, El Paso, and Cincinnati for the 1922 convention. San Francisco, besides waging a noisy fight for the next convention Monday advanced a candidate, Charles Kendrick, for national commander. Following his delegation, Chicagoans claimed, will be solidly behind Colonel Milton J. Foreman for national commander.

TEDDY'S PICTURE ON U. S. DEBT NOTES

The portrait of the late popular idol of American people is to appear for the first time on United States government securities, according to an announcement Saturday by Postmaster Gustave Keller.

It is the likeness of Theodore Roosevelt and it is to be stamped on the $25 denomination of a new issue of treasury savings certificates, which will be placed on sale in Appleton before the end of this year.

The new issue of treasury savings certificates will be a feature of the unified government savings plan which is now being developed by the secretary of the treasury and the postmaster general. The new plan will combine to the best possible advantage the facilities of the treasury and the postal savings system.

The Roosevelt portrait was chosen for the $25 denomination because it was believed that this amount would be the most available to the public.

Mrs. Leone Storm and Miss Josephine Mignon were guests of the Fond du Lac friends Sunday.

MUST RETURN TO OLD WORLD FAITH

Priest Deplores Tendency of World to Ignore Saviour's
Teachings

As a part of special services during 40 hours of devotion which began Sunday morning at St. Joseph church and will continue until Wednesday evening the Rev. P. N. VanNestlerov of Kimberly preached the sermon Sunday evening.

In his sermon, Father VanNestlerov placed emphasis on the statement that the only cure and solution of the many problems of a personal and national character which are prevailing today is the return of the world to Christ and his teachings.

He declared that the spirit of Christ is left out of all consideration in these problems and that men need not look for peace of mind and heart as long as this situation exists. Nations, he said, need not hope for peace as long as Christ remains outside the lives of the mass of mankind.

Also in the strife between capital and labor, he said, the teachings of Christ have no part at the present time and that the increase in divorce and crime was directly resultant to the Christless attitude of the people. Instead of relying upon the fundamentals of Christ's teachings to bear them through prevailing crises he said, men today are attempting solution of great problems by science and he predicted a dismal future and a disastrous result if this course is continued.

Tuesday is All Saint's Day and it will be celebrated at St. Joseph church by masses at 5:30, 6 o'clock, 7 o'clock, 8 o'clock, 9:15 and 10:30. There will also be services at 7:30 in the evening.

BIG REDUCTION IN U. S. WORKING ARMY

A total of 33,634 persons in the civil service were dropped from the federal government payroll during the year ending July 31, 1921, according to a statement received from John H. Bartlett, president of the United States civil service commission, by Postmaster Gustave Keller.

This makes an aggregate of 300,000 persons who have been released from government civil service since the close of the World war. Reduction in the number of employees will continue in the future, the statement said, but hereafter persons will be discharged more slowly.

About one eighth of the persons released were employed in government offices in the District of Columbia. At the time the armistice was signed there were approximately 500,000 persons in the government civil service as compared to 439,357 on June 30, 1916.

SUGGESTS WIDER USE OF RIVER BY PASSENGER BOATS

Oshkosh City Commissioner
Says Transportation Avenue is Unused

Utilization of the Fox river as a means of passenger transportation was urged by C. F. Hart, Oshkosh city commissioner, in an interview this week. Mr. Hart said that through passenger service from Fond du Lac to Green Bay by street car might be of some benefit but he could not see why new transportation methods should be sought when those now available are not put to use.

"Right now perfectly good steamboats are tied to the docks in Oshkosh and are rotting because they are not used," Mr. Hart said.

"It was only a few years ago that the steamboats were used to bring what were called merchants' excursions to Oshkosh. People who live up-river and across the lake came to Oshkosh in great numbers, attracted by a low rate of passage and good bargains after they got here. Later on the excursions were discontinued. I have been informed that the state association of merchants did not approve of them, but whether that was the reason or some other, the excursions were discontinued.

"The hundreds of passengers on every one of these excursions must have spelled profit to the merchant and it meant bringing large numbers of people to Oshkosh for recreation as well as for trading. Our city is fortunate in the possession of parks and the municipal golf links. It seems to me it would be advisable next year to try and renew the excursions, not only on week days for trading but on Sundays for recreation.

"There are several officers at Appleton who come to Oshkosh every week during the summer to play on the municipal links. There are many who come by automobile to the parks, particularly Menominee park, for picnics. If a steamer line could be operated on regular schedule from up-river and across the lake, I feel certain many people would come to Oshkosh both for business and for pleasure."

PUTS EMPHASIS ON CRIME PREVENTION

Former Chief of Police of Minneapolis Will Lecture
Here Thursday

A keen interest in preventing crime among children and using proper reform methods for those who do wrong is a factor that has made the career of Lewis Harthill, who speaks in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8 o'clock Thursday evening under auspices of Appleton Trades and Labor council, a noted one.

While chief of police of Minneapolis in 1917 and 1918 Mr. Harthill found conditions of vice and crime prevailing that almost were unbelievable. He felt that while it was one of the duties of the police department to apprehend and convict those who had committed crime or violated the law, his greatest duty was protection of the public.

Thus conviction led the chief to throw a cloak of protection around the children and guide their feet while on the street. Mr. Harthill personally lectured to more than 60,000 school children in public schools on lessons on self-protection. Causes why young people went wrong were studied and some of the blame was found to be in penal institutions.

Having this in mind, the speaker is touring the country throwing the searchlight on vice and crime and police activities, and will reveal here in his talk, and with 150 illustrations what the responsibility of the public is. He believes the solution lies not in punishment of unfortunate but in prevention of crime by exposure, education and legislation.

Crimes against children are dealt with in detail in the coming lecture. Criminal identification and the use of union labels also are part of Mr. Harthill's subject.

MOOSE WILL OBSERVE "CANCER WEEK" HERE

"Cancer week" which has been set for the period from Oct. 30 to Nov. 5 will be observed in Appleton by the Local Order of Moose.

The state board of health designated "Cancer week" after it was found that of all preventable diseases cancer is becoming the most prevalent.

This is ascribed to the fact that cancer has been ignored while public health is being neglected. The state board of health designated "Cancer week" after it was found that of all preventable diseases cancer is becoming the most prevalent.

"The Inside of the Cup" Said to be one of the most remarkable picture productions of the current season, "The Inside of the Cup," a Paramount-Cosmopolitan picture, will be shown at the Elite theater for four days beginning today.

When this book was published in 1913 its exposure of hypocrisy among wealthy churchgoers, provoked bitter criticism by the clergy of England and this country. The hero of the story, as in the picture, is the pastor of a fashionable church, who, by coming disguised with certain elements of his flock and severely arranges them for their shame and hypocrisy.

Director Albert Capellani, however, has paid more attention to the dramatic features of the story than to the philosophy which makes the book almost unforgettable. The scene is thrilling and the heart appeal culminating in the fusion of a love romance, is irresistible. The cast headed by William P. Carleton and Edith Butler, is unusually large and artistic.

Farmer's Dog Delivers Mail From Carrier

Every morning when Arnold J. Fetting, rural carrier on route 6, drives past the home of Fred Kasten he is greeted by a lively collie dog which has taken it upon himself to see that the mail is each day carefully delivered to his master's house.

The dog has learned to know the carrier's automobile and the sound of the horn and when the machine comes to a stop, with forepaws against the door and mouth wide open, he receives the day's allotment of mail.

The collie began the practice when it was only six months old and has been the job for the last three years. Just three months ago the stork paid a visit to the home, and since then,

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

While the issues of the averted railroad strike are essentially between the railways and the men and have not been settled by the closing of the breach, it cannot be said that the labor board set up by the Esch-Commins act for the fixing of wage and working conditions is altogether a failure. We think the public impression will be that the principle embodied in the creation of this agency of mediation is essentially sound. In reality it was the labor board which prevented the completion of the order to strike. When it came to a showdown it was clear that the position taken by the board had the indorsement of the country. The brotherhoods were forced to realize this at the eleventh hour, and their decision to call the strike off was eminently judicious. We do not think that pressure from the White house was the determining factor, although the attitude of the administration undoubtedly had its effect and strengthened public opinion.

The important fact is that the union officials exhibited good judgment in their final decision to accept the findings of the labor board and be governed by its administration of the law. The men will accept the board's cut of twelve per cent in wages. The railroads on their part have agreed to attempt no reductions in wages except through application to the labor board. Thus both sides are put in the commendable attitude of respecting both the law and the jurisdiction of the labor board. Whether they were required to do this legally is a debatable question. The probability is that the board has no power which can be enforced through the courts to compel acceptance of its rulings.

When the Pennsylvania railroad sought to defy the authority of the labor board it unquestionably had satisfied itself that it could do so with immunity. The brotherhood officials had equally good reasons for assuming that they could defy the board and strike in the face of its orders or citations without incurring a penalty. So we have the apparent anomaly of a law "without teeth" triumphing by sheer weight of public opinion. This, however, cannot be regarded as a satisfactory instrumentality for preserving peaceful relations between the railroads and their employees, for the simple reason that it is not reliable. Should the labor board make a decision touching wages or working conditions that either side held with deep conviction to be unjust there is little doubt it would rebel and carry its case to the people, which is the only tribunal of last resort the law recognizes.

Nevertheless, the labor board is a distinct advance over anything yet devised for establishing peaceful conditions in the railroad world. It is a step forward toward the adjustment of differences by reason rather than by force, and to that extent it must have the approval of the people. The problem now is to go still further and develop the plan along lines which will insure, as near as human agencies can insure, an equitable settlement of disputes, protecting both parties in their lawful and constitutional rights, with some provision for making decisions binding.

Unless this is done the present settlement has settled nothing. It will be only a question of months or a year until the same situation arises again and another strike will loom up as a probability or a certainty.

MARY PICKFORD DEFENDS MOVIES

The men and women belonging in the motion-picture domain of dramatic art are defended by Mary Pickford in an article which she wrote in London last week for the English and American press. The artists of this profession, she stated, are persons of character, whose moral standards are as high as those of men and women in any group of society. The players, writers and producers of this art industry need no defense from Mary Pickford. The sensational and incredible revelations brought to light in the Arbuckle case are no reflection on the profession as a whole. On the contrary, they will be of benefit to reputable artists, who constitute the majority, as they will have the effect of purging the business of influences that are vitiating and degrading.

There is no danger that the American public will condemn the whole profession for the disreputable features of the industry, or that it will misjudge the personal reputation of any artist. The public will continue to hold the fair opinion that the majority of the regular members of the profession are men and women of good habits and high ideals. As the profession needs no defense, it would be more to the interest of artists to attack the evils that are known to exist. Defensive statements are calculated to help the element which should be driven out, for it will take advantage of any opportunity to protect itself behind the reputation of the whole profession.

SPECIAL VOCATIONAL EDUCATION NECESSARY FOR SUCCESS

Many failures in life and most of the impediments to success are due to indifference to opportunity, especially to indifference to accommodations for preparation. This is the conclusion to which observation of the relative achievements of men similarly situated generally leads. Disregarding luck, which frequently affects success or failure, it is the men and women who deliberately pick an occupation or profession and carefully train themselves for it who realize the most profit and the most benefit from work.

After character, proficiency is the most essential qualification in a business, profession or trade. The farmer must be a scientist in agriculture and be familiar with the rudiments of accounting and trade. The banker, manufacturer and merchant must know economics and accounting and the other important branches of commerce. The lawyer, physician, engineer, instructor and publicist must each have an intimate knowledge of a special division of a profession, besides grounding in the fundamentals. The stenographer who knows only how to write, shorthand and operate the typewriter is outclassed by rivals who are well versed in rhetoric and administrative methods.

Establishment by the principal universities in recent years of schools which offer, in what might be classified under the generic term of proficiency courses, ample opportunity for special education, has had the retroactive effect of stimulating young men and women to select their occupations. The present generation cannot trust much to mere chance. Persons cannot drift into a business or profession, and then move along with the tide. They must choose work which they like and to which they are adapted and then they must train to be expert in it.

Assurance of success is strengthened when a calling is carefully chosen. The hazard of disappointment is minimized, and, in most cases, eliminated. Success is doubly guaranteed by thorough training. Whether life's occupation is chosen, or not, special education is requisite for preferment. The profits, satisfactions and honors accrue to the most efficient in commerce and finance and in the professions and trades. The opportunities for success are not exclusively in the occupation itself, but in personal qualifications and fitness.

Our New "Bloc" System

The political biparty system in the United States has resisted all conscious efforts to change it. Since the war between the states it has resisted all attempts to substitute a new party for one of the old ones. The Progressive party failed to work because it rested on one personality which abandoned it. And after all, men are politicians. Had the Progressive party been a "bloc" system, which operates in accordance with party lines, the various "blobs" are enumerated as belonging respectively to the agriculturists, the prohibitionists, the river boatmen, the Pacific and Orientalists, and so on. It is expected that eventually there will be railroad, business, Eastern, Western and Southern blocs.

The American bloc system differs from the European system in that it precludes on lines of interest, locality or cause rather than on lines of political doctrine. It differs from socialism in that its lines are interwoven so overlapping, as are its constituents. There is no parallel or precedent in the American bloc system. So far as we know, it is a new animal on the face of the earth. It is the inevitable product of our refusal formally to admit that our old party lines, with reference to principle, don't mean anything.—ST. LOUIS POST DISPATCH (10).

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Receipts for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

The Quick Cure of Ivy Poisoning

On several occasions there has been given in this column, as well as by mail to numerous correspondents, the formula and directions for treatment with a very dilute extract of poison ivy leaf for the purpose of removing individual sensitization to this poison. The formula is as follows:
Tincture of rhus toxicodendron 1 part
Rectified spirit 5 parts
Syrup of orange, enough to make 100 parts
Beginning with two drops after breakfast, in a wineglassful of water, take a dose thrice daily after meals, increasing by two drops each dose until 15 drops are taken at one dose, then take one teaspoonful once a day until the supply is exhausted. If you expect to come in contact with poison ivy frequently throughout the season, it is well to continue taking a teaspoonful two or three times a week. The preventive effect lasts only a few weeks or months, and the same course of desensitizing treatment must be repeated the following season if protection is desired.

Many persons who have suffered with ivy poisoning experience an annoying and very obstinate skin inflammation or irritation over a prolonged period of months or years thereafter. It has been found that a course of the foregoing desensitizing treatment brought complete relief to many such chronic skin conditions resulting from an attack of ivy dermatitis.

It would be safe enough and perhaps of some benefit to begin this course of desensitizing treatment even after an attack of ivy skin inflammation has started. But the benefit, if any, would be a little too slow, to be particularly appreciated by the sufferer.

A much more efficacious treatment to employ after the dermatitis or skin inflammation has actually started is the injection with a hypodermic needle directly into muscle tissue of a very minute dose of an extract of poison ivy. Dr. Albert Strickler of Philadelphia, has reported a long series of cases in which the method of treatment has brought most grateful relief to the itching within 24 hours as a rule, and practically a cure in a very few days—in contrast with the usual duration of two or three weeks.

Dr. Strickler directs that fresh leaves of poison ivy be gathered, extracted by the pharmacist with absolute alcohol, and the extract filtered and precipitated. The precipitate is dried and extracted in Soxhlet extractors for 12 hours, and the extract obtained is dried at low temperature. The toxin or poison is carefully weighed and dissolved in absolute alcohol. A proper amount of sterile water is then added to make the solution non-irritating. The dose of this toxin solution administered by hypodermic injection into muscle tissue is from one-half to two cubic centimeters (about eight to 30 drops) every 24 hours, but usually two injections are sufficient for quick relief and cure.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Least Dangerous Bath
Is a shower bath a safe form of bathing for people 70 years old? (J. A. M.)
Answer.—I should say a sponge bath is the safest, a shower next, a tub bath next.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Monday, Nov. 2, 1896
Conductor Tom Butler, formerly of Appleton, was visiting friends here.
Miss Cora Hatch was spending a week's vacation at Fond du Lac.
Mrs. M. J. Allen went to Chicago for an extended visit.
Miss Josephine Briggs of Oshkosh spent the day previous at her home here.
George P. Hitchcock, who had been selling fells for the Appleton Woolen Mills through the eastern states, was home over election.

Elmer Blackwood, who had been night delivery man for the American Express Co., was transferred to the day route, and his place at night was taken by Sherman Rose.

Halloween pranks were numerous the Saturday evening previous. The steps at St. Paul Lutheran church were removed and had to be replaced by planks to allow the congregation to enter. A lamp post to which a United States mail box was attached was torn down. A large number of sidewalks and fences were removed.

Father Sherman, son of Gen. W. T. Sherman, and Father Finnegan were conducting a mission at St. Mary church.

Election returns the evening following were to be received by telegraph at James Hinton's saloon the evening following.

Miss Virginia Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Clark, and Philip Dielman of Milwaukee were married the previous Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. John Paville.

There were to be morning classes at Lawrence university the day following, election day, but none in the afternoon.

At the coroner's inquest upon the death of David Fitzgerald, who was killed by a Lake Shore train near Greenville, the jury rendered a verdict attaching no blame to anyone.

A blackboard was put up in the office of Hotel Ritzer upon which election returns were to be exhibited the following evening.

TODAY'S POEM

By Bertie Bralcy

TO THE AMERICAN LEGION

You are the heart and spirit of our youth—
Our splendid youth that helped to save the world,
You fought for decency and faith and truth,
Into that conflict all your strength was hurled;
Upon the reddened soil your comrades died,
Fallen in battle that a Cause might live;
Freely you gave your all with laudable pride—
And now your country asks you still to give!

Give of your hopes and dreams the better part,
That in this nation which you served so well
Dreamers and doers shall again take heart;
Give of your faith, that in each soul may dwell
A faith responsive to the country's need;
Give of your vision, so that we may gaze
Beyond the mists of selfishness and greed
Into the glory of the coming days!

Give! Give! Your service but began with war,
Your future is the hollow of your hands,
What you have done no gold can pay you for—
You're called to service under new commands;
Duty well done brings great duties still,
"Peace hath her victories" supreme and great,
Tomorrow's destiny is what you will,
For you are youth, blithe conquerors of Fate!

Why Imitate Europe

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—A composite photograph of a group of minor European diplomats is what the average American young man will look like next spring, if the tailors and the makers of ready-to-wear clothes have their way, no doubtless they will.

It has already been announced that the clothes designers, like all the rest of the world, will descend upon Washington when the armament conference opens, for the express purpose of studying the clothes worn by the delegates and modeling their 1922 offerings after them.

We will be treated to Lloyd George collars and Brandy pockets. All European diplomacy will be represented in the spring style books. But the clothes will not really be modeled upon what the great men wear. Whether it is a significant fact or not, great men are very seldom good tailors' models. Brandy is anything but dresy, and Lloyd George's trousers seem often to sag at the knees, according to the photographs. There is not anything striking about Clemenceau's garb except that he wears black gloves in the house—a habit which even a European precedent probably would not serve to popularize in this country.

The clothes will really be modeled after those worn by the young striplings who will come over from Europe in various capacities, secretarial, social, and purely ornamental. These imported exquisites will have transcended the borders. Their great function will be to drink the oceans of tea and other liquids set forth by Washington hostesses, to dance with the debutantes, and possibly to marry a few of the well-endowed ones, thus cementing international alliances and recouping individual European fortunes, as the United States Treasury has recouped the national finances of our allies.

Why Not American Styles?
Doubtless these European attaches will be very well groomed, and doubtless American youths might do worse than to look like them, but the question surely is legitimate why in this, as in so many other ways, we should be an imitation of Europe.

Apparently there is no such thing as an American style. The highest recommendation your tailor or haberdasher can give anything is that it is now being worn in London, just as the ladies look to Paris for styles. It is bad enough thus for the whole of male America to be trying desperately to look English while his better half tries to look French, but surely it will be confusing if our daring and original designers are going to try to make us look like the whole continent of Europe all at once, with perhaps an oriental touch thrown in.

It is also curious that a nation which prides itself on its inventiveness and its independence should be content in so many matters to be a mere ape of other nations. For it is not only in matters of clothing, but in manners and customs, in literature and art, we are, or have been until quite recently, docile followers of British and other European models.

This is still more strange when you consider that the American scene more closely, and less in mythical subjects, runs less persistently to Europe for its education and inspiration.

Why should we not, in our clothes and manners and foods, also dare to be ourselves? It is not seemly that the greatest nation on earth should be a composite imitation. What have we, besides chewing gum and candidates for office, that is really 100 per cent American?

THE QUESTION BOX

Q. How much money is collected for licensing automobiles and drivers and what is done with the money?
A. E. T.

A. In 1920 $102,546,212 was received from licenses and 55 per cent of this amount was available for work on the roads. The first six months of 1921 showed a gross total in excess of the entire year 1920. Most of this amount will be spent in road work.

Q. How far toward the zenith does the sun come on June 21st and December 21st?
A. C. G.

A. The Naval Observatory says the sun's altitude at noon on June 21 may be found by subtracting the latitude of the place from 113 1/2 degrees; the altitude on December 21 may be found by subtracting the latitude from 68 1/2 degrees.

Q. What is the melting of salt called?
A. S. S.

A. The Geological Survey says that the melting of salt is known in chemistry as deliquescence—that is, the power of an into solution. In damp air, some salts have a greater power for absorbing water than others.

Q. Are there any fruits or grains that contain iodine?
A. K. E.

A. Bananas, strawberries, grapes, pears, oatmeal, and wheat contain small amounts of iodine. Many vegetables and fish also contain iodine.

Q. Who wears the first glove makers?
A. E. D.

A. The earliest glove makers in history were the monks under Charlemagne who were granted the unrestricted right of hunting in return for making gloves, stirrles and book covers from the skins of the deer they killed.

Q. What will racoons eat?
A. R. K. R.

A. Raccoons will eat almost any small animal, but they are particularly fond of frogs, crayfish, and muskrats. They will also eat vegetables.

A Resume of American Newspaper Opinion

A Congressional Medal in Westminster Abbey

Because all's well that ends well the American press good humoredly pardons the "British bungling" of America's desire to decorate Britain's "unknown hero" that for a time threatened to develop a tart incident, as the AUGUSTA CHRONICLE puts it. Rather our editors dwell on the friendly spirit that was manifested when the belated ceremonies at Westminster Abbey finally took place, and conclude that the significance of the event was deepened by the proof that ill feeling between the two countries cannot get very far.

"Wars have been fought over less serious breaches than the seeming disinterest which Britain showed in our offer of the highest American honor for her unnamed son," the GRAND RAPIDS HERALD observes, and it is accordingly a splendid proof of the amity existing between Washington and London that this affair never approached the proportions of a serious break. It was only a mistake, the CLEVELAND PRESS DEALER finds, "perhaps after all a fortunate mistake; for in correcting it the British have outdone themselves in their demonstrations of friendship and appreciation." Certainly the reception given General Pershing and his coterie, the HOUSTON POST thinks, was of "such unfeigned cordiality as to submerge an ill-feeling that may have arisen over the British government's tardiness, in making arrangements for the ceremonies."

"In the heart of modern London," writes the COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE, "stands Westminster Abbey, built by Norman kings on the spot where it has stood undisturbed for eight centuries and more, sacred symbol of the unbroken continuity of England's history," and to the countless episodes of historic significance which have centered about it "yet another event has just taken place in the old Abbey" that "to any earlier generation would have seemed strange, upon the grave of the nameless common soldier who lies there, 'England's greatest son,' has laid 'the highest decoration within the gift of that nation,' and to any one well acquainted with history perhaps nothing could more eloquently reveal how fast and how the Western world has moved under the tremendous influence of the Great War than this simple bit of ceremony." Westminster Abbey, "a weekly sensational or morbid melodrama," this ceremonial tribute to the man in the ranks has become, the VANCOUVER (B. C.) PROVINCE thinks, "an international celebration which has been raised to the dignity of an impressive and solemn pageant" that testifies to a common sentiment and emotion.

That the "hands-across-the-sea" sentiment should be brought out in high relief on this occasion the BROOKLYN EAGLE considers "inevitable," and "such manifestations of good feeling" prove to the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT "that the supposed enmity between the United States and Great Britain, in the twentieth century, at least, to the realm of pure myth." At any rate, the NEW YORK TIMES feels that "at the moment when the greatest and most lasting cause of misunderstanding and irritation between Great Britain and the United States seems about to be removed, this symbol of the enduring sympathy and good feeling that exist between the two countries is especially grateful and gracious."

Americans may not, in fact most of them will not, "approve every phase of British imperial policy," but even the attitude of this country toward "the course of successful British government in regard to Ireland" ought not, in the opinion of the BIRMINGHAM TIMES UNION, "to blind us to the fact that the interests and points of view of the two great English-speaking peoples are to a great extent identical," and the paper interprets the ceremonies at Westminster as "more than a reminiscence; they are a new dedication of the two nations to the cause of peace."

Under the inspiration of these ceremonies, the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS believes "it ought to be possible for the two nations to confer a great blessing on the world—namely, relief from the burden of armament, and a more assured peace." For "the old unity of allied and associated nations which seemed likely to be at least strained, ought to be more firmly knit as a result of that solemn ceremony." The unknown soldier whose grave Pershing decorated "with the Congressional medal died 'in the cause for which the Washington conference is called,' says the ANA CONDA STANDARD, "to destroy militarism, to release nations from the ever increasing burden of armament, to institute a reign of law in the world in the place of the rule of force." And "if the lives that were given for that common purpose can be a means of bringing nations closer to each other," the OMAHA WORLD HERALD believes "they shall not have died in vain." But "the world must strive to make the spirit that dominates this exchange of honors the spirit that shall govern in other matters. The services in Westminster Abbey mark an occasion 'for hopefulness among the people of both nations,' the WORLD HERALD continues, for they 'point to a day when nations shall sacrifice in peace as well as in war,' and 'when the unselfishness that stirred the warriors in war shall take possession of men during peace, the catastrophe of international conflict must become a thing of the past.'"

Making Your Spectacles
Very few people who use spectacles ever give a thought to how they are produced, and do not realize by what an interesting process the lenses are shaped to meet the order of the oculist. "A Lens Worker," writing for the LONDON MAIL, gives the following interesting account of the processes of manufacture involved in turning out the "specs" which assist the near-sighted to a comfortable existence.

Before 1914, quartz and crystals, obtained chiefly from Brazil and Madagascar, were used, which explains the term "pencil-lens," but the transport of material became so difficult that ordinary crown glass began to be more generally used.

"This glass is cut into various shapes, a few inches in diameter, and is then placed in a small furnace till red hot, when it is lifted into molten oil, round, or oblong, and pressed into the shape required when moulded, after which the lenses are immersed in hot water.

"In another department of the factory is a receptacle full of hot pitch. This is run into master moulds of many shapes and sizes, and is taken out as a thick block or 'runner,' upon which, while warm, the pieces of glass are pressed by hand—sometimes as many as 250 pairs on one block. The sticks are accurately pressed upon the pitch that the lenses are round with emery.

"Afterwards they go to other machines and are polished with rouge (oxide of iron) under thick polishes of felt, now very expensive owing to the price of wool.

"The lenses are taken off the pitch by being plunged into cold water. They have been through a refrigerator. The sudden change of temperature so acts upon the pitch that the lenses can be lifted with a knife or tapped away. Placed in racks, they are next plunged into a boiling solution to clear them, and they are ready for the final polishing.

Adventures of the Twins

LOONY GETS A FALL
By Olive Roberts Barton

Nick looked up to the top of the tall tree whence the outlandish noises were coming, the noises that Loony Locust was making by scraping his wings. "Do you want him to stop his noise, Mr. Sprinkle-Blow?" he asked.

"Yes, I do Nickie," nodded the fairy-man emphatically. "I most certainly do, but I don't know how."

"I do," declared Nick. "Sprinkle-Blow nearly fell over. 'How?' he gasped.

"I'll show you in a minute," said Nick. "But will you please open your umbrella, Mr. Weatherman, and turn it upside down. When I say 'One, two, three, ready, go,' please close it with a snap and hold it shut. Nancy, do you want to help?"

Nancy did and in a minute the two of them (with the help of their Magic Shoes) were crawling along a top branch of the tree toward that noisome creature known by the name of Loony Locust. They had wished themselves very small, and as they slipped along the branch, they looked like two plump little bugs.

Loony was just about to start his scraping again—why he liked to do it so well no one knows, for it's anything but musical—when the twins gave him a shove. Before he knew what had happened, or could catch himself, down he went, crashing through the leaves like a hail-stone. Down, down he went right into Mr. Sprinkle-Blow's open umbrella.

Quick as a blink the fairy Weatherman shut it up, with Mr. Loony Locust safely inside. "Well, I declare!" exclaimed Sprinkle-Blow. "Who'd have thought those twins were so smart?"

Up in the sky, Jack Frost turned over and went to sleep again. "Thought I heard Loony Locust cawling out about fall," said he, "but I must 've been mistaken."

AUTOMOBILES DAMAGED IN COLLISION IN FOG

While driving through the fog early Sunday night, an automobile driven by H. C. Lemke of Kaukauna, collided with a machine driven by Alex Alexander, of Menasha on the Little-Chute rd. near the John West farm. Alexander's machine was overturned and thrown to the roadside. Entertains Friends
Mr. and Mrs. Chris Fetting of Mackville entertained 30 friends at lunch and dinner Sunday. The afternoon was spent with cards and music.

Vegetable Puddings

While it may seem a bit incongruous to put vegetables in a "dessert" they may be used that way to great advantage.

The pudding made with a vegetable contains great food value and should follow a light meal. These vegetable puddings are best suited to luncheon, where they should form the principal part of the meal.

Sweet potatoes, carrots, squash and pumpkin lend themselves admirably to desserts.

Carrot Pudding

½ cup grated raw carrot, ½ cup grated raw potato, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup chopped suet, ½ cup currants, ½ cup raisins, 1 lemon, ½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon salt.

Mix grated vegetables with sugar and add the grated rind and juice of lemon. Work suet creamy with hand and add to first mixture. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, spices and salt and add cleaned and seeded raisins and currants to dry mixture. Add this to first mixture and beat well. Put in a buttered mold and steam three hours. Serve with hard sauce or lemon sauce.

Squash Custards

2 cups cooked and mashed squash, 2 eggs, ¾ cup brown sugar, ½ cup raisins, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 cup rich milk or thin cream ½ teaspoon salt ½ teaspoon mace.

Rub the squash through a sieve. Add eggs well beaten, sugar, raisins and milk. Mix well and add seasoning. Pour into buttered custard cups and bake in a moderate oven for 40 minutes.

Cumberland Pudding

½ pound raw carrots, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, ½ cup butter, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup candied or drained preserved cherries, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt.

Wash and scrub carrots but do not scrape them. Cut in halves and boil in slightly salted water to cover till tender. Drain and then rub through a fine sieve. Cream butter and sugar. Add yolks of eggs well beaten and beat mixture well. Stir in bread crumbs, cinnamon, cherries cut in quarters, salt and carrot pulp. Beat whites of eggs till stiff and dry and fold into mixture. Pour into a buttered mold and steam two hours. Serve with lemon sauce.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

This 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Simply present the coupon. This test will prove a delightful revelation. It will show you the way which millions have found to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. This offer is for one week only. It means much to you and yours. Act now.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer of the acids which attack the teeth. It combats the film wherever it adheres. It leaves the teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily cling. Pepsin is also included.

See and feel it act

The results are not uncertain. You can see and feel them. Some are almost instant. A ten-day test is most convincing.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

To millions this test has proved a revelation. It has shown them the way to prettier teeth, to cleaner, safer teeth. One does not return to the old ways when he sees what this new way does.

The delightful results

One conspicuous effect is to beautify the teeth. Another is a feeling of cleanliness. Men who smoke will see great changes. It is film that absorbs tobacco stains.

But it is most essential to the children. Young teeth are most subject to film and starch attacks. Dentists advise that children use Pepsodent daily from the time the first tooth appears. Under old methods, very few children escape some tooth destruction.

To all this test is important. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget to make it. Present it this week.

Not for Women Only

To millions it is bringing whiter teeth

This new way of teeth-cleaning appeals to women. It brings them prettier teeth. But men also enjoy it, and children must use it to properly clean their teeth.

Millions now use it, largely by dental advice. The glistening teeth, you see everywhere now show the results of its use.

Everyone needs it, as this simple test will show. See the results it brings in ten days and decide that for yourself.

You must fight film

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

The ordinary tooth paste does not effectively combat it. Your tooth brush has left much of it intact. And that clinging film may do a ceaseless damage.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles, local and internal. Thus film causes most tooth troubles. And, despite the tooth brush, all those troubles have been constantly increasing. Some have become so common as to be alarming.

Now ways to combat it

Dental science has for years sought ways to combat that film. The ways have now been found. Able authorities have amply proved their efficiency. Leading dentists everywhere now advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a scientific tooth paste. The name is Pepsodent. Its use is fast spreading the world over.

To let all know it quickly, a 10-Day Tube is being presented to anyone who asks. Thus thousands of new people daily are learning its delights.

Combines five effects

But Pepsodent does more than fight film. It fights the acid which is a great tooth destroyer.

Each use of Pepsodent multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is to digest the starch deposits which may otherwise remain and form acid.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FROM NORTH FONDY

Kaukauna Piles up Big Score on Visiting Team—Free Chest Clinic

Kaukauna.—Last week's scrimmages between the high school football team and members of the city team showed their effect on the Orange and Black eleven Saturday when it defeated North Fond du Lac high school by a score of 47 to 0. With "Red" Smith in the pilot position, the team made its heavier opponents look foolish on the field. Enthusiasm and hope over next Saturday's game with Appleton high rose to the boiling point and if the Orange and Blue is not defeated by Kaukauna high school next week there will be a host of sadly disappointed fans in this neighborhood.

The Kaukauna backfield men looked like pygmies against the long, lanky youths from Fondy but their size was to their advantage when they carried the ball. Ott, fullback, was the largest man in the second line and one of the heaviest of the team. Several times he hit the visitor's line square in the center for gains of more than 10 yards.

HIGHER OBJECTIVE NEED OF EDUCATION

Oshkosh Minister Says America Must Teach Meaning of Fellowship

"We must have a higher objective in our education," said the Rev. E. W. Todd, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Oshkosh, to Lawrence students at the chapel hour Monday in discussing "Christ and the Intellect." "If I were asked to point the objective for American intellect, I would say it in two words, 'World Citizenship.'"

The speaker led up to this point by showing the simplicity of the writings in the Bible which demonstrated the working of Christ's powerful intellect. "I think that Christ had set aside many things as unnecessary and that a great deal of our education with the most learned men of his day, yet he always emphasized the need of truth, which is learning. He pointed to the objectives of other countries in learning, Greece for artists and athletes, Rome for conquest and dominion, Italy for art, France for social training England for literature and Germany for the Kultur which brought ruin to the world. FARMERS MAKING MONEY WITH WOOL

Custom Woolen Mills Filled With Orders—May Build Addition

Farmers of Outagamie and elsewhere in the central and northern part of the state are realizing a good profit on their wool by having it converted into yarn and then disposing of it. In this way they avoid the present low price of wool.

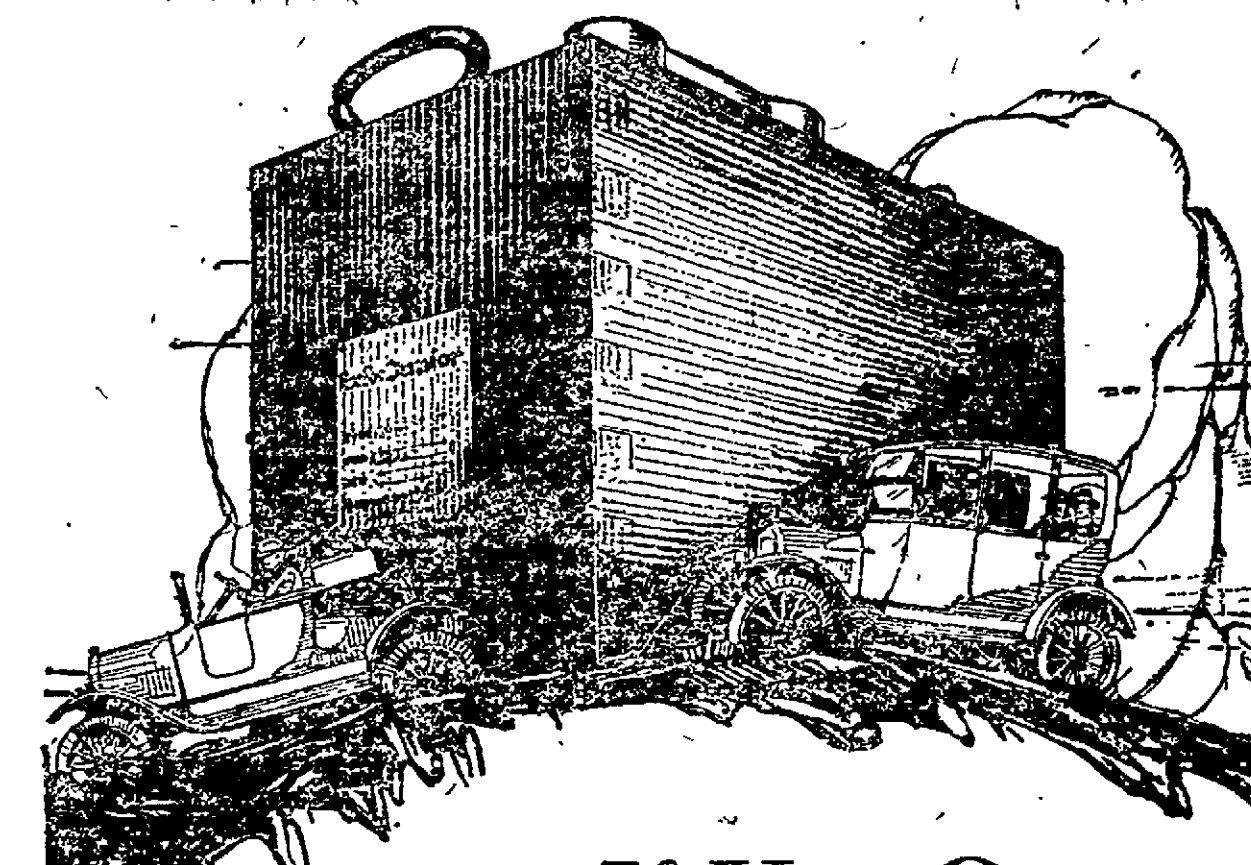

This method is working out so profitably for them that the Custom Woolen mills operated by J. S. Courtney are filled with wool in all stages of manufacture as never before. Extra help has been added but still the proprietor has trouble in handling it as fast as it comes in.

"If business continues to increase," said Mr. Courtney Friday, the only thing I can do is to build a basement under the present mill or erect a new addition where the office building now stands as the present building is no longer adequate." Mr. Courtney did not intimate when he expected to make the changes but gave the impression it might be soon.

Mr. Courtney said when he purchased his plant 20 years ago he was criticised by many of his friends who claimed custom wool would die out in a few years. His patronage has gradually increased each year and there is every indication it will continue to grow as heavy knit jackets, sweaters, stockings and mittens are becoming more popular each year.

There is Strength in Every Tablet

One does often help commence to stretch your blood and revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves. Nuxated Iron is organic iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach. It is so prepared that it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. It is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood while some physicians claim metallic iron which people usually take is not absorbed at all. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron—three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. At all druggists.

THIS YOUNG MOTHER

Tells Childless Women what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a strong, healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Janssen, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

IMPORTANT PART IN NATIONAL MEET

Hugh G. Corbett Directed Discussion of Big Subject at New Orleans

Secretary Hugh G. Corbett of Appleton Chamber of Commerce was one of five Wisconsin commercial organization secretaries who had part in the program of the seventh annual meeting of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries at New Orleans last week.

Study and discussion of "Retail Trade Development" was under the direction of Mr. Corbett. Among the various phases of this subject the following topics were discussed: Co-operative delivery, community sales day, merchants' institutes, information and credit bureaus, community buildings and better business, Edward C. Kraemer, secretary of the Neenah Civic association, acted as secretary of this group and its work.

William G. Bruce of Milwaukee read an interesting paper on the "Presentation of a Project to a Committee, a City Council and the General Public" and this was one of the best features of the whole program.

Edward R. Smith of Oshkosh led the discussion on "A Business-Building Program for the Chamber of Commerce." D. A. Caldwell of Marshfield acted as secretary of the group which discussed "Junior Chambers of Commerce."

City zoning and planning was the specific subject which received most consideration at the meeting. Mr. Corbett said while the general trend of the whole program was the matter of making local chambers of commerce community institutions local secretaries were admonished to see that they keep in touch with the whole community and not with one group or class of citizens as the chamber could only be helpful insofar as it represented the whole community.

A tour around the New Orleans harbor by the Steamship steamer "Capitol" was one of the entertainment features provided for visiting secretaries. This was greatly enjoyed and gave northerners a chance to see the old historic harbor which is the second largest in the world.

ROHAN TELLS ANOTHER STORY ABOUT LAWSUIT

In a settlement out of court of the case of William Rohan against Fred Reichel, both of Kaukauna, the defendant received $375, according to an explanation of the case made by Rohan.

Rohan declares that he purchased the lumber from the Green Bay Mississippi Canal company and sold Reichel an interest in it. However, Reichel never paid for this interest but after Rohan had cut some of the timber, Reichel removed part of it to his premises. Rohan then placed an attachment on the logs Reichel was holding. Action was started in court by Rohan.

PROVES THERE IS LIFE AFTER DEATH

God's Justice Compels Him to Reward Men Who Live Righteous Lives

Reasons why a belief in immortality cannot be doubted were given by Dr. John B. Koehn in an address in Memorial Presbyterian church Sunday evening. He said there were plenty of evidences why there is another life beyond this one, but there was no evidence in the world, either literal or scientific, to disprove that this was the cause.

All these things must be determined from final causes, and not from reasons as to when, where or of what they originate. The final cause for the world, for instance, was a place where people could live. It was made for man. The brain, he said, is the instrument through which the mind functions. He also pointed out how people cannot see with their eyes, hear with their ears or use their other senses in this respect. These things only are the instruments by which these sensations are accomplished.

Dr. Koehn's most conclusive assertions of a hereafter was that God would not put men here for three score years and then cause them to develop to their imperfect yet advanced stage and then abruptly end their soul of life. His principle of justice could not permit otherwise than to let them live on.

A striking example was stated as the beheading of John the Baptist when the king gave a dancing girl who tired his passions anything she wished, and the head was requested. God would not let such wicked, worthless persons put an end to the life of that great apostle, Dr. Koehn said.

LAWRENCE AND HIGH SCHOOL GRID TEAMS IN EASY WINS

NORTHWESTERN IS WHIPPED, 26 TO 6, BY LAWRENCE

Collegians Have No Difficulty in Trouncing Watertown Eleven

Lawrence college had easy picking with Northwestern college at Watertown Saturday, winning by a 26 to 6 score. The game was played on a slippery field which made fast work impossible. Lawrence might have inflicted several more touchdowns if the men had had good footing.

The Blue and White depended entirely on line plays, plowing through the Watertown line at will. Basing was the biggest ground runner making gains of 10 to 15 yards regularly.

The first touchdown was scored in the first few minutes when Lawrence took the ball on its own 40 yard line and ran the length of the field in a few downs. Zobel got the second matter in the second period. Substitutes relieved the regulars in the final period when two more touchdowns were registered.

A completed forward pass and a buck through center placed Watertown on the Lawrence 3 yard line in the third period. Four downs were required for the lone touchdown registered by the Lutherans.

Lawrence will not play on Saturday and will devote the next two weeks to preparing for the game with Ripon here Nov. 12.

"BO" IS HAPPY AS HE WHIPS HARVARD

Cambridge — Bo McMillan, Centre college's star, said he had reached the zenith of his football ambitions when he crossed the Harvard goal on Saturday. "I am the happiest man in the world," was the way he expressed it after the game.

"Last year," he added, "when Capt. Horwenz offered me the ball used in the game we lost, I refused it and told him that to the victor belonged the spoils. I also told him that I would be back next year to win the pigskin. Now I've got it and I'll keep it for my kids."

He disclaimed all individual credit, saying that without the play of Armstrong, Roberts and the rest he could not have scored. "I just tried to carry out orders," he said.

He attributed the winning of the game to the strategy of the Centre coaches. At a conference between players and coaches before the game it was decided not to resort to open play.

"I think this fooled the Harvard eleven," he went on.

The treatment accorded us by the Harvard officials and the sportsmanship displayed by the team could not have been improved upon."

Coch Charles Moran praised the playing of the entire team.

"The Crimson gave us a clean fight," he said, "and played a square game. Although this is my last year as coach of the team, I hope that Centre plays Harvard again next year."

RULES ALL VENDERS MUST HAVE SALOON LICENSES

Milwaukee—That soft drink parlors and drug stores must pay the same license as a saloon under the Severson law, was the opinion of Joseph L. Bednarek, assistant city attorney, submitted to the common council here Friday night.

A delegation of soft drink manufacturers and bottlers appeared before the committee and their spokesman asserted that the enforcement of such a license would put many soft drink parlors out of business.

There is so much time spent in gloating over the victorious team and its individual stars that the greater heroes often are muffed.

TRIS, ON FISHING TRIP, BANS CUSSING

Cleveland Leader Throws Off Baseball Worries When Season Closes

Cleveland — When Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Indians, goes on a fishing trip, what does he talk about?

Baseball? Possibilities for a next year's pennant? Fish?

All wrong! He doesn't talk. Like the real sportsman that he is, Tris fishes in silence.

I've just returned from the annual post-baseball season fishing pilgrimage to Idyl Wilde Island in Rice Lake, Ontario, with Speaker, Leslie Nunamaker of the Indians and some others.

Klan Chief

It was Tris who organized the Rice Lake Klan, the purpose of which primarily was to stop cussing at the table. Tris appointed himself King Kleagle and slapped a two-bit fine on offenders for each offense. He named Clay Folger, head of the Cleveland police squad, as Grand Gobin and made it Clay's job to collect the cash.

An inventory of Folger's couple of days afterward revealed an astonishing amount of assets, but later the fellows learned to hold their tongues until after they had eaten and then to stand just outside the mess-room door and have their say at the unfortunates who were still eating.

Speaker is one of the best cooks I ever have run across on an outing and can slap together as tasty a meal as a sportsman could desire. But he draws the line at washing dishes.

On every previous trip Spoke has done all the skilful slinging, but this year we had a Canadian cook.

Speaker caught his first musky three years ago. He found the sport so entrancing that every year since, as soon as he can shake the cares of baseball off his shoulders, he has headed for the Canadian lakes.

The world series was on while we were casting our lures, but the only time Spoke mentioned baseball during the whole trip was in the evening when someone in town would call us up to give us the score of that day's game. And, about the only interest Tris would take in the game then, was to ask who had pitched. Spoke's wife. When the baseball season is done, Spoke shakes it off his shoulders until springtime worries arrive. That's what keeps him fresh.

Speaker this year again was guest of honor at the annual pow-wow of the Hawatha Indians, who last year elected him chief of the tribe, as a mark of their regard for his outdoor activities. He's an expert hunter and trap-shooter as well as a fisherman.

LEW TENDLER HAS LOST HIS WALLOP

Leonard Will Have Hard Time Trying to Find Suitable Opponent

New York.—Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard is in training for another campaign in the ring, but it looks as though good opponents for him will be decidedly scarce. Neither Rocky Kansas nor Lew Tandler, who met in New York recently in a bout that was supposed to be for the purpose of providing an opponent for the champion, showed anything to give Leonard cause for alarm.

Kansas never was taken seriously, but Tandler had defeated him decisively there would have been a countrywide demand for Leonard to meet the Philadelphia in a championship match. The size of the crowd that attended the bout showed that the fans were interested in Tandler's prospects.

If he had made good a match with Leonard would have been a tremendous attraction. In that case there is no doubt that Leonard would not have allowed his dislike for Tandler to interfere with the opportunity to rake in a fortune.

Not Quite So Good

It is evident that Tandler is not as good as he was a year or so ago. At the present time he is just a fair lightweight without a particularly brilliant future before him.

At that time he was almost as great an attraction as Leonard himself, and he could make plenty of money without running the risk of being knocked out by the champion. Even a big loser's end and the off chance of capturing the title were not worth the risk. But now it is apparent that Tandler made a big mistake. He has lost all his prestige and the shot at the title as well.

Loses His Wallop

Tandler has nothing that indicates he would have the ghost of a chance with Leonard. He has lost his wallop and he is not a great boxer, although he is decidedly more clever than the average southpaw. But Tandler is easy to hit and he can not withstand much punishment. He has a very tender skin that shows the mark of every blow, no matter how light, and he seldom goes through a bout without bleeding in several places.

As far as Kansas is concerned, he would have even less chance with Leonard. Tandler at least has plenty of speed, but Kansas has nothing but a rugged physique. That he received the verdict over Tandler does not prove anything. Tandler, with all his faults, showed himself to possess more "class." Although the Philadelphia seems to be going back, he is younger than Kansas and probably will be boxing after Kansas is through.

WESTERN TEAMS ARE AFTER OLD ELI GAMES

Chicago.—Now that the scalps of two of the "big three" eastern football teams are hanging from the belts of the west and south, several western conference schools are gunning for Old Eli.

Reports Monday were that arrangements were practically completed for Iowa to go east next year to play Yale, although no home-and-home series proposition would be considered by Yale.

PACKER TEAM IS OUTCLASSED BY ROCK ISLANDERS

Illinois Squad Downs Green Bay on Own Gridiron by 13 to 3 Score

The Green Bay Packers bit off more than they could masticate when they tackled the Rock Island Independents at Green Bay Sunday afternoon. The Packers were defeated by a 13 to 3 score but that score does not tell the story of the comparative strength of the teams. If the Independents could have held the slippery ball they might have scored at least two and possibly three more touchdowns. Three times they dropped the oval when they were within a few yards of the Packer goal.

The Packers were outplayed every minute of the game. They did not make a first down until the last quarter when a few forward passes were completed. In that period the aerial attack carried the ball to the Rock Island 15 yard line where four tosses went down and the visitors punted out of danger. It was the only real chance Green Bay had to score except when a fumbled ball was recovered on the Independent's 20 yard line and Lambeau dropped-kicked the pigskin over the goal posts.

Two bad punts by Cub Buck paved the way to Rock Island touchdowns. In the second period the ball was blocked and went about 20 feet straight in the air and a green jerseyed independent fell on it about 10 yards from the Packer goal. The touchdown followed in about three plays. In the final period Cub punted out of bounds on his own 30 yard line. Two-long end runs and a smash through the line resulted in another score.

The Packer line was torn to shreds by the plunging Rock Islanders except for a brief period, in the third quarter when The Packers held well. Innumerable gains were made around the Packer ends and on tactic plays. Cub Buck's reputation didn't seem to bother the Independents much. Many a play was aimed at the big fellow and while he stopped most of them a few good gains were made through his side of the line.

The Packer backfield was helpless. Not more than 40 yards were made by the backs in running the ball. Most of the time they were thrown for losses. The longest gain was about four yards through tackle.

Murray played a pretty good game for Green Bay. He spilled the opposition in pretty good style and followed the ball well. Haves, end, ran down under punts but the Islanders' interference was so good that he seldom nailed his man.

The Packers' interference was ragged. They were unable to chop down the Island tacklers and often got in way of their own runners. The Islanders, on the other hand, protected the runners in good style, cutting down would be tacklers and opening up big holes. The Independents carried the ball well. The afternoon, outplaying the Baymen in every department of the game.

WISCONSIN SQUAD LOOKS STRONGEST IN WESTERN WHEEL

Badgers Showed Amazing Power in 35 to 0 Victory Over Minnesota

By United Press Leased Wire Chicago.—Four western conference teams—Chicago, Wisconsin, Ohio and Iowa—were still undefeated Monday in inter conference games.

One of these will fall from the select list next Saturday when Chicago and Ohio State meet at Stagg field. Both teams should be in tip top condition for the game. Ohio did not play last Saturday while the Maroons had a light game with Colorado in which the second string men were given a chance.

Wisconsin and Michigan will play November 12 and Chicago and Wisconsin on November 19. With an open date this week, the Badgers will have a good chance to get into shape after the Minnesota game. The Badgers looked impressive in the game with the Gophers and many believe Coach Richards has built up the best eleven Wisconsin has had since the famous 1912 champions.

Michigan failed to develop a real offensive in the game with Illinois Saturday, but won by the margin of a place kick. Illinois has been beaten three times so far this season and faces two more difficult games in Ohio and Chicago.

Iowa kept her record clean with the defeat of Purdue and Howard Jones started getting his squad into condition for the Minnesota game next Saturday.

KAUKAUNA LEGION TEAM WINS FIERCE GRIDIRON BATTLE

Maple Leafs of Milwaukee Go Down Before Vicious Attack, 14 to 0

Kaukauna.—Before the largest crowd of the season the Milwaukee Maple Leaf football team was downed by the American legion by a score of 14 to 0, and at the same time Milwaukee's boast that no opposing team had scored a touchdown in the first quarter of the game in three years was ended. Although slightly outnumbered the Kaukauna squad, the visitors were unable to stop the rushes of the backfield. Wagner, halfback was a star in the legion backfield and he was called upon again and again to make the required number of yards. Due to the absence of Schroeder, whose broken leg held running at all times, brought great gains. Wagner was played so hard that he was exhausted but he refused to be taken from the game. Wagner is an Appleton man.

Milwaukee was forced to play a defensive game most of the time. It was not until the second half that the visitors were able to make their yards by plunging. They were forced to resort to aerial football and they had that end of the game down to perfection.

Sport Views And News

And the Badgers continue on their path to the Western conference football title. The victory over Minnesota showed very clearly that Coach Richards has a pigskin chasing machine that can be ranked with the best in the country. The Gophers were outclassed completely in the homecoming game and the wonderful work of Rollie Williams and Guy Sundt will be talked about for many a moon in Badger town.

The Harvard Crimson has turned in a mourning black. And the Centre college is the cause. The Praying Colonels' from that little Kentucky school pulled the surprise of the football season, taking the vaunted Cambridge eleven into camp to the tune of 6 to 0. "Bo" McMillan stepped into the limelight once more by dashing around Harvard's wing for a 35 yard run and a touchdown, the only one made during the game.

Well, Madison won't have anything to say about the state scholastic championship. Coach Endrey's squad got a rude upset at the hands of Chippewa Falls by the score of 9 to 0. Evidently, the Capital City team was not quite as strong as it had been doped. Marinette took a fall out of the Chippewa Falls by a fair margin. This shows just where the Madisonians stand with the teams in this part of the state.

The state boxing commission is staging a fine little "Personal grooves" are being barred. Licenses appear to be the storm center with Manning Vaughn and Judge Hedding horning in with their say. It is unfortunate that the war clouds let loose because the Badger fight body has always been held up as a model to other states. Personally, we think that petty jealousy is at the bottom of everything in this squabble.

Coach Zuppke's Illinois eleven got another trimming. Saturday, Michigan nosed the Suckers out 7 to 0 thanks to Frank Stokette's toe. Something is wrong with the Illini. They are not showing anything at all this year despite the fact that there is plenty of good material in the squad. Unless Zuppke puts sands on his track pretty quick, the Suckers will be fighting it out with Northwestern for a cellar berth in the conference.

Civil Service Exams

Examinations for the civil service positions of assistant weather observer and meteor for Indian service, which were scheduled to be held in Appleton recently will again be held Nov. 16 and Dec. 7, according to an announcement by Herman J. Freneck, local secretary of the civil service. Mr. Freneck will furnish application blanks and detailed information to persons interested.

FOUR BIG GRID TEAMS DERAILED LAST SATURDAY

Penn State and Cornell Stand Out as Strongest Teams in East

By Henry L. Farrell By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—Four pieces of high class football machinery were in the wreck pile out in the back yard Monday.

Harvard, Georgia Tech, Dartmouth and Penn swerved off the road Saturday and ended in the ditch.

The "prayer" colonels' from Centre college pulled the biggest derailing stunt of the season when they swerved Harvard off the main track for the first time since 1916. The southerners did it with such finesse that Harvard hasn't the slightest alibi.

Penn State and Cornell stand out as two of the strongest teams in the east.

Penn State's convincing victory over Georgia Tech and Cornell's utter rout of Dartmouth put the two big eleven's right in the front rank of the eastern championship contenders.

Pittsburg, traveling on high speed, knocked Penn out of the running and pushed themselves father into the ranks of the elite.

Yale showed more good form in beating Brown and Princeton exhibited symptoms of old form in beating Virginia.

With six straight victories, Yale, Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson lead the eastern procession. Penn State, Cornell and Georgetown have won five games each.

Navy is next with four straight victories and is the only team in the east that hasn't had its goal line crossed.

HIGHS RUN AWAY FROM WAUPUN IN EASY GRID GAME

Local Team Wallops Prison City Squad by 54 to 6 Score on Saturday

If Waupun high school had any idea that it might defeat Appleton high school pigskin chasers when it went on to Lawrence field Saturday afternoon it wasn't long in losing that impression. The game turned into a riot and when the smoke cleared away Appleton was on the long end of a 54 to 6 score. Waupun scored on the flukiest kind of a fluke. The ball rolled over the Appleton goal line on the kickoff and Tappert, bewildered by conflicting advice from his mates and from the sidelines, stood around until a Waupun man fell on it, thereby scoring a touchdown. The goal kick was missed.

The Orange and Blue boys ran away with the visitors. They outweighed Waupun from end to end in the line and in the backfield. The Waupun quarterback didn't weigh much more than 100 pounds and harrily came up to Bonini's hips. The big Appleton center, time and time again grabbed the little fellow by the jersey and picked him off the ground.

It was so easy for the home boys that there wasn't any real star—everybody doing about everything he wanted to do. Roach punted, only four times during the game. The home boys resorted almost entirely to simple plays, throwing only a few passes.

Briese got into the game in the second period and tore through the opposing line at will. Zussman also plunged through the visitors for good gains while Tappert carried half the Waupun team on his back when he got started. Roach's quarterback sneaks resulted in big gains. The local quarterback far outplayed his rival from the Prison city.

Next Saturday Appleton will play Kaukauna here.

Sam Says:
Some business men carry the dictating habit outside their offices.

Does It Prohibit?
"An Austin man claims to be the author of the following lines which he set afloat some six weeks ago and which have been carried out of here by traveling men to all parts of the state:
10,000 Jews are selling booze.
Without the state's permission
To supply the needs of a million
Swedes.
Who voted for prohibition."

Do You Remember
When the citizens at large kicked because they had to pay $20 a year for each of the 150 gas lamps then lighting the city? (1890).
Speaking Mechanically
The way some folks conduct themselves
Is certainly most shocking:
Remember the motor of your car
And then refrain from knocking.

EVERETT TRUE

MACHINE DETECTS LIARS

The machine, pictured above, forces confessions from criminals, says the current issue of Popular Science Monthly.
It is the invention of W. M. Marston, of Boston, and records the heart and lung action of suspected criminal as they are cross examined. There are three separate parts to this machine—the chronoscope, the kinegraph and the sphygmomanometer.
The chronoscope, through a mouthpiece in front of the suspect, registers the time that elapses between the suspect's answer. Some questions have nothing to do with the case at hand; others have. The innocent man will respond to all questions in approximately the same interval of time. The guilty man will invariably hesitate at crime questions.
The kineograph, through a rubber tube fastened around the man's chest, registers breathing. When a man lies he breathes differently. The device catches this in a new course of zigzag lines on the register.
The sphygmomanometer registers blood pressure. If this increases when the suspect is asked questions that refer to the crime, indications point to his guilt.

They Came—To the Peerless And Saw—A Modern Laundry

We surely enjoyed "Visitor's Week" for we had the pleasure of entertaining hundreds of Appleton folks and it afforded us the opportunity of showing what a real, modern laundry looks like. Every step in the "doing" of a "family wash" was followed by the visitors and proved a revelation for no one seemed to realize the finished work this laundry is capable of turning out by means of its modern equipment.

WILSON EXPECTED TO BREAK SILENCE ON ARMISTICE DAY

War President Will Attend Arlington Ceremonies for Unknown Soldier

Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
 Washington—Woodrow Wilson will attend the funeral ceremonies at Arlington on armistice day when an unknown American soldier killed in action will be buried.

The former president has not appeared at a public function since inauguration day last March when he was too feeble to do more than greet Mr. Harding in the president's room in the senate wing of the capitol.

When the services at Arlington are concluded, Mr. Wilson will proceed to his home where an informal demonstration will be tendered him by his old friends. It will be similar to the affair on March 4 when thousands of people crowded the street in front of the Wilson home and paid their respects to the ex-president. The same group of women who arranged the demonstration last March is preparing this time to give Mr. Wilson a greater ovation.

The former president has not said a word publicly in nearly nine months and there are rumors that he may break his silence on Armistice day and give his views on world issues. As an exponent of the idea that the most practical way to get limitation of armament is through a league of nations which by providing a machinery for the settlement of disputes makes less necessary armament burdens, Mr. Wilson might make another plea for ultimate American cooperation with the other powers of the world.

On the other hand, Mr. Wilson has heretofore refrained from doing anything which might be construed as a reentry on his part into the political arena and while it is known that many of his friends would be glad to have

U. S. Will Help

The United States wants to help. Woodrow Wilson proposed one formula—the league of nations. It was rejected by the American senate as being too intricate. Warren Harding has proposed another formula—international cooperation. He doesn't think a rigid institution like the league of nations is essential though he believes the present league is going to be of immense help in keeping the European nations together. He hopes it will live for that purpose and succeed even though he is unwilling at present to give American membership.

But just the same international cooperation, not isolation, is the fundamental in President Harding's policy.

And at the Washington conference America will come back into the family of allied and associated powers and take up anew the thread of European questions which do affect America's economic welfare. Reparations, balanced budgets, payment of war debts, readjustment of war loans, readjustment of the whole financial situation—this and ways and means of moved, otherwise there'll be a war in the Far East in the next decade. And America has had one lesson in how she can be drawn into a maelstrom from which at first she seemed to be thousands of miles distant.

But aside from Far Eastern questions, comes a larger matter—bringing the nations of Europe and America into some kind of an understanding about the future. Shall the reparations question be allowed to drift with France keeping a big army to enforce her wish? America wants Europe to pay back the ten billion dollars lent during the war. It can't be paid until Germany begins paying England and France. The United States has a material interest in seeing Germany make good her pledges. Assuming the good faith of Germany, she will not be restored by a policy of starvation and strangulation. England told France that only to arouse the ire of the French. In this America stands close to the British view. You can't make a man staggering under
